Grown-up reads: A swimming lesson has small steps. Swimmers listen to their teacher and practice one skill at a time. They may blow bubbles, kick their feet, or reach forward with their arms. Each swimmer can learn at a different pace.

Ask: Tell two things from this information text.

Draw / tell: Draw your favorite part of a swimming lesson. Dictate a sentence about it.

She may draw, label, or dictate. Grown-up writes her words.

Print tip: find one letter, then one whole word. A word can have several letters.

Social studies: shared rules

Say: 'Choose one rule that helps our home or classroom work well. Show me what following it looks like. How does that rule help people? Let us practice taking turns choosing a movement.'

I practiced today. I feel:
