Grown-up reads: A collection is a group of things. We can sort crayons by color or blocks by shape. We can count each group by touching one thing for each number we say. Moving the things apart does not change how many there are.

Ask: Does spreading the same things farther apart change how many there are?

Draw / tell: Draw a favorite collection. Dictate why you like collecting those things.

She may draw, label, or dictate. Grown-up writes her words.

Word talk: use one word from the passage in a new spoken sentence.

Social studies: needs and wants

Say: 'People need things such as water, food, a safe place to live, and care. Name one thing you need and one thing you would like for fun. It is okay to want things. How can we help take care of a need today?'
